

1. Experiencing Chinese Character is awesome! I love it so much! Through the After-class assignments typing practice, I can write emails to my Chinese friends in Chinese Characters on the Internet. And from the part of Chinese characters on the street, I recognize many signs. My friends are very surprised that a beginner knows so many Chinese Characters. It's really cool! I recommend every students use this book to learn Chinese. (Mark, a US student)
2. According to the concept of learners-based and Experiential Learning, this textbook follows the integrate process of gradual and circular learning. That's a smart approach to teach Chinese characters. From the order of stokes to radicals and then to characters, my students can understand the characters and write correctly. What's more, this textbook also provides phrases and sentences for students to understand how to use Chinese. It's necessary, practical and useful, which is also usually neglected by most Chinese textbooks. There are so many useful examples and exercises in the textbook. It's very convenient for me to prepare for the classes. My students love it, and I love it. (Ms. Shi Cuiling, a Chinese teacher of Capital Normal University)
3. This is a magic textbook to learn Chinese characters. My students make big progress on them and there are fewer errors than other students who don't use this textbook. For the most European students, Chinese Characters are really big challenges for them. But with the book Experiencing Chinese Character. Characters problems are no longer problems any more. Through this textbook, my students can acquire the characters from a natural process. For every character, there are order of strokes, usages and translations. Furthermore, under every character, there is a point teaching the students how to write correctly and beautifully. (Ms. Li Hao, a Chinese teacher of Southwest Jiaotong University)
4. This is the best Chinese character textbook I'd ever used. The characters in this textbook are very common and frequently used in Chinese daily lives. By teaching these characters, I feel that my students are interested in learning and eager to use them. Because the characters appear repeatedly in learning and exercises, students can memorize and use these characters more effectively. That's very important in teaching and learning. Our students achieve their goals and so is the textbook. (Dr. Liu Tao, a Chinese teacher from Northwest University)
